A large-scale construction project is shown under a clear blue sky. Several tall cranes are positioned along a long, narrow trench. Large, dark-colored pipes are being lowered into the trench. The ground is uneven and appears to be a construction site. The overall scene conveys a sense of industrial scale and engineering.

The LNG terminal at Dabhol. The upscale Ananda resort in the Himalayas.
One of the world's finest airports at Changi, Singapore. The tunnels of the Singapore Mass Rapid Transport. The Masters Golf & Country Club in China.
Just some of the projects that we're known for, when it comes to engineering excellence. Indeed, along with group companies Sembawang and Simon Carves, we're well on our way to shaping not just our future, but yours as well.
